batch was. Another twenty years on, the way we brew our beer hasn't changed. We still only use the finest Golden Promise barley, a variety normally reserved for malt whiskies. It's a costly ingredient and difficult to grow, but we think it's worth it. The proof is in that first sip.

RULES

1. Each team must submit one set of typed questions by 30th September and a second set no later than 30th November. Questions sent by e-mail will be acknowledged by return e-mail and it is the team's responsibility to check for this. If questions are submitted late there shall be a penalty of 3 points for each week questions remain outstanding. All team members are equally responsible. In addition, teams will be asked to replace questions deemed to be unsuitable for use.
2. Each team shall pay an annual subscription of £65 by 1st October. Failure to comply will result in the deduction of points.
3. Team members who have not played one league match before the date of the quarter final will not be eligible to play in the later rounds of the knockout competition.
4. Except at the discretion of the committee no person may play for more than one team in any one season.
5. It is the responsibility of the home team to provide a question master and arrange for the postal address of the questions. Each team must nominate its postal address before the start of the season.
6. All matches shall start at 8.15 pm unless prior arrangement of a later start is agreed. Matches must have started by 8.30 pm or 15 minutes after the agreed starting time. A team may claim the match if no member of the opposing team is ready to play at this time.
7. When a fixture is postponed, it is the responsibility of both captains to rearrange the match. Should such a league match not be played before Finals night the committee will decide how the points are to be treated.
A team captain can claim the points, by writing/emailing the results secretary, if their opponents fail to turn up, give insufficient notice, or the reason for postponing is considered unacceptable.

8. A full team for each match shall comprise four players. A team, with a minimum of two players at the beginning, can play with empty seats which may be filled subsequently. No substitutions are allowed.
9. The winner of the toss of a coin shall decide which team starts. Each game consists of 64 questions in 8 rounds of 8 questions. At least 4 spares should be set. Teams change over after 4 rounds.
10. Each player has twenty seconds in which to answer the question, two points shall be awarded for a correct answer. If a player fails to answer or answers incorrectly another member of the team may answer within ten seconds to earn one point. If no answer is given then one member of the opposing team may answer within a further ten seconds to earn one point.

When a short team is fielded empty seats shall be considered as players, the appropriate question being asked and the actual players being allowed fifteen seconds to give one answer for one point. Unanswered questions shall be passed to the opposition in the normal way.

11. There shall be no conferring between team members.
12. Should there be any prompting by spectators the question will be cancelled and a spare asked.
13. In cases of dispute if both captains agree the answer on the sheet is wrong and the correct answer has been given by one of the three answerers then the reader may consult appropriate reliable sources(eg internet etc) at the end of the round and points be awarded accordingly or not, as the case may be. The Question Reader's decision, based on this research, is final. If there is still a dispute, formal objections can be made to the committee in writing or by email.
14. A win scores two points, a draw scores one point, a loss scores no points. It is the responsibility of teams to ensure that points due to them are credited to them by the Results Secretary.
15. In the event of a League tie, then the results of the season's fixtures played between the teams concerned will be taken into consideration when the committee decides the final league position.

HISTORY OF AIREDALE QUIZ LEAGUE

The League had its foundations in the winter of 1965-1966 when Jack Simpson, landlord of the Ferrands Arms, Bingley, having seen an excerpt from a Merseyside Quiz League game on television, organised a number of trial games at the Ferrands Arms.

The number of teams involved and the area covered grew steadily over the next two years until the league was formally organised in time for the 1967-1968 season. During that season Mr. Simpson was sole organiser of the League, a committee being formed the following year to share the load.

A pairs knockout competition was instituted in 1969 and this was opened to members of the public as well as people already in the League. The pairs competition was followed by the first team knockout contest in 1970-1971 and the 'Airebrain' individual knockout in 1975. This latter contest is also open to the general public. The growth of the League necessitated the formation of two divisions in the 1971-1972 season and the addition of a third in 1979.

The Airedale Plate competition for teams losing in the first round of the cup was introduced in the 1987-1988 season.

The League reverted to two divisions in the 2002-2003 season because of a decline in the number of teams.

The 2019-2020 League season was not completed because of the COVID-19 lockdown. Finals of the suspended Cup, Plate and Airebrain competitions for that season were played in 2021. Otherwise, play in the 2020-2021 season was restricted to ad hoc online matches.

League matches resumed as normal for the 2021-2022 season.

Since 2024 the Airedale Quiz League has been sponsored by Timothy Taylor's brewery.
